Aid for Educators has started the year with a generous donation from a private foundation. The foundation knows and understands what modern teachers have to endure. The grant stipulation was to help new teachers and teachers whose students are economically disadvantaged.

The current school year marks the beginning of a prosperous new era for Texas education and teacher hiring. Increased funding levels in the state budget combined with the extraordinary ongoing population growth in Texas are propelling the need for teachers to new highs. Given the demographics and strong economy of the state, this surge in teacher hiring is expected to continue indefinitely.

Aid for Educators is going to help these new teachers get started by funding classroom decorations and supplies.

Here is a request from a 4th grade teacher with economically disadvantaged students in a poor school district.

I am a fourth grade teacher at a Title I school which is located in a very socio-economic area. Most of my students do not have any type of technology at home.

The project I am working on is providing my students with a differentiated hands-on learning tool called the tablet. The tablets will not only allow students to learn, but also engage and provide the rigor all students need to become accustom. I believe by incorporating at least 4-5 in the classroom will create an additional hands-on workstation for my students. I want to be able to challenge the students daily using different free downloaded applications. They will be used in all subject, and for field trips and memory of 4th grade.

Aid for Educators is going to help bring Android tablets to teachers with students who do not have access to new technology in a classroom setting.

The first step to complete our application.
